Jeremiah

Jeremiah is an OPM vocal group formed in 1998, best known for their chart-topping debut single "Nanghihinayang." After going their separate ways in the mid-2000s, the group's current US-based lineup has reunited under Symphoni Entertainment for a nostalgia tour honoring the memory of original member Piwee Polintan, with a comeback record currently in the works.

Jeremiah formed in 1998 and quickly became one of the defining vocal groups of the OPM era. Signed to Star Records, the group's debut single "Nanghihinayang" topped the Philippine charts for nearly twenty weeks, followed by additional hits including "Bakit Ka Iiyak," "Oh Babe," "Sa Ugoy Ng Duyan," "Basta't Ikaw," and "Halaga." Between 1998 and 2002, Jeremiah released four albums — Heart and Soul, Jeremiah, The Very Best of Jeremiah, and Basta't Ikaw... — and toured the United States and Japan.

The group went their separate ways in the mid-2000s as members pursued careers on different paths, several eventually relocating to the United States.

Now with Symphoni Entertainment, Jeremiah returns for a nostalgia tour featuring Symon Soler, Olan Crizaldo, and Mico Mauleon — who joined in 2004 after Symon's own departure from the group — as the current US-based lineup. More than just a reunion, the tour is a heartfelt homage to honor the memory and legacy of original member Piwee Polintan. Meanwhile, original member Froi Calixto remains based in the Philippines, and a comeback record is already in the works.

Jeremiah's first confirmed reunion performance, "The West Coast Sessions: Live in Long Beach," takes place September 13, 2026 at Noypitz Bar & Grill in Long Beach, California.
